The Centennial Lane Elementary School community was built on the belief that excellence rests upon the collaborative effort of the staff, students and parents. Our Vision for CLES is to empower, engage and inspire. Our staff members engage in collaborative planning and data analysis in order to develop high quality instruction. Staff participate in professional development that is student-centered, and designed to meet the needs of the 21st century learner. At CLES, we are dedicated to supporting the needs of the whole child by creating an Environment of Encouragement in which students are recognized for their effort, growth and achievement. Our highly engaged parents support our school with an active PTA, which enhances the school's learning environment through their sponsorship of many extension activities, such as the Cultural Arts program and evening Enrichment Programs.

We strive to maintain our commitment to serving all students in a dynamic environment that empowers and engages all learners. Through our problem-solving teams, our schoolwide Instructional Intervention Team and our special education services, we focus our efforts on providing the best instructional strategies and interventions to all learners. Our students enter an environment that enriches their educational experience with an exceptional gifted and talented program, an appreciation of the arts and integration of technology throughout their day. We further enrich our school-learning environment through our Core Essentials character education program, Quarterly Celebrations, Science Technology, Engineering and Mathematics (STEM) programs, Winter/Spring concerts and Enrichment Fair.

We are pleased to be a Professional Development School (PDS) in partnership with Towson University, Triadelphia Ridge Elementary, and Longfellow Elementary. Our PDS promotes learning and enhances the instructional climate of our school, while supporting the professional growth of our teaching staff and the development of teaching interns.

CLES staff, students, and parents work hand-in-hand to build a safe and healthy environment that educates our students to be world-class citizens.
